

NCPMA MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL FAQs

What is the new price for membership?

The annual price for a member company will be $225 beginning in 2026. Cardholder pricing remains at $10 per cardholder.

Will the price of cardholders' membership change?

No, the price for cardholders remains at $10 per cardholder.

Why is NCPMA raising the price of membership?

NCPMA is preparing for the future and adapting to the changing price of managing an association. As any business owners understand, the price of doing business continues to rise, so we must adapt to our changing environment in order to continue to best serve our members and provide the valuable training and representation for our industry throughout North Carolina and beyond.

The membership price for each member company has not changed in more than 30 years. In order to reduce the impact for our members, NCPMA will continue to keep the price of cardholders at $10 for cardholders.

When was the last time that membership pricing changed?

Membership in NCPMA has remained the same price of $175 per company for more than 30 years. We are updating the pricing now in order to answer the rising cost of doing business and to continue to best serve our members and our industry.

What do my dues pay for?

NCPMA is continually working to train and represent the pest management industry across our state and beyond.

Our training programs are well known. We offer continuing education courses throughout the year for every stage of the pest management career. Whether it's continuing education at our annual Pest Control Technician's School or Spring and Fall Workshops or targeted training through our WDIR Accreditation, Leadership Development Academy and Premier Technician Program, there is something for every stage and every facet of the pest management industry.
